But...but...that's not what Brian Burke said when he took over as general manager. TSN's Darren Dreger reported in December of 2008 that Burke wasn't listening to any offers for defenseman Luke Schenn. Though maybe that's just semantics. If Burke had received a ridiculously generous offer for Schenn,nike nfl jerseys 2012, surely he'd have listened to it.

Even for Phil Kessel or Dion Phaneuf?

The Avalanche are in Calgary tonight in a game of vital importance. That's right,nike new nfl jerseys, I want to keep my preview record above .500. That and the minor detail that the useless Flames are just 1 point behind the just-slightly-less useless Avalanche.

"We couldn't see ourselves moving Kessel or Phaneuf. They are players that would be difficult to move. (But teams that have gotten better in this league through trade have always listened on virtually every player, Nike jerseys," Nonis said. "But it doesn't mean you're shopping players — always listening on every player. There (are) very few players in this league that are untouchable on every team."
